About Peertask – The micro – task platform

PeerTask began as an engineering major project—sparked by the simple, everyday act of asking a friend for help and repaying them with a treat at the canteen. What started as that humble idea has grown into a thriving platform where students collaborate, share tasks, and support one another. Today, PeerTask is more than just a tool—it's a vibrant community built by the students, for the students, learning and growing together.
